The criticism of TikTok from a lot of users is not surprising because this platform has been accused of violating its users' privacy in the past. A news article published by a German news outlet noted that "TikTok is no longer just a fun app for teenagers, but rather an attack tool aimed at the private lives and personal data of young people. The American app is the latest in a series of digital platforms to become notorious for breaches of privacy." The article continued to state that "The cross-platform app just received 10 million at-risk accounts. But this data is second-hand, because Snapchat does not make clear whether the images that appear on its platform are real or not." One of the biggest concerns with TikTok is that it allows users to upload sensitive personal information such as videos which include images of people who may be minors. In addition, if a user's account gets hacked, there is no way for them to know if their account has been used against them in a manner which causes harm or embarrassment. In addition, the app does not make clear to its users which videos are older than 24 hours or indicate that their account has been hacked. A lot of people have also expressed concerns about the fact that they do not know what data is collected and what it is used for by the app and that their privacy could potentially be at risk if they do not understand how to use this app as well as what data is being collected from them.", TikTok has been criticized for the amount of time it takes for users to upload videos and therefore can affect their ability to generate revenue from them. These issues have been compounded by the company's lack of oversight and a lack of in-app review or moderation tools available for its users. As of May 2021, the app has been criticized for the amount of inappropriate and illegal content shared on its platform and the ease with which users can access this content. TikTok is not monitored by human moderators as Youtube is but relies entirely on machine learning technology to find inappropriate content that violates its terms of service. It has been reported that this method provides overbroad or inappropriate results, as well as false positives.",

In an article published by The Wall Street Journal, it was alleged that "In the three months leading up to December 2021, TikTok ranked as the third most downloaded app in North America on both iOS and Android, according to App Annie." This article was published on The Wall Street Journal. In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "The app is hugely popular in Asia with over 800 million active monthly users and with more than 60 million monthly active users in Japan alone. Yet the firm has done relatively poorly outside of China so far." This article was published on TechCrunch. In an article published by The Washington Post, it was alleged that "It's difficult to measure this growth, however. TikTok, which is owned by Chinese tech giant Bytedance and has an estimated 500 million users, still has a relatively low profile in the United States." This article was published on The Washington Post.", TikTok is a newly trending video-editing app. It is the perfect life-saver for those who like to share short videos with their friends and family members. TikTok has found fame on its 400 million daily active users. The creators of TikTok are American entrepreneurs George Stropoulos, Sean Fujiyoshi, and Or Arbel who had previously founded Vine before it was acquired by Twitter in 2021.", In an article published by Tech Crunch, it was alleged that "Xinhua also noted that Bytedance had announced plans to develop a 'social credit system' based on its AI capabilities in 2021. It was part of a larger trend for Chinese tech companies to apply AI to social credit scores. For example, Ant Financial's Sesame Credit uses data from one's Alibaba profile to create a credit score for users." This article was published on Tech Crunch. In an article published by The Verge, it was alleged that "A lot of AI hype has been around China's tech companies, which have been loudly touting their AI capabilities to justify valuations that are 30 to 50 times higher than the next biggest tech firm in the US." This article was published on The Verge. In an article published by Tech Crunch, it was alleged that "Bytedance is also rumored to be working with a variety of Chinese government agencies. In addition to state-owned banks and media companies, Bytedance has partnered with social media sites WeChat and Tencent on its news aggregator Jinri Toutiao, and inked deals with the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology for speech recognition software. Another deal with China's railway ministry is reportedly pending." This article was published on Tech Crunch.",

The app has received criticism from users for not creating revenue and posting ads on videos which some see as annoying. The app has also been criticized for allowing children younger than age 13 to create videos. Some have also criticized the app for not using technology that automatically identifies protected material like copyrighted music in auditions of songs from artists like Mika Singh and Sonu Nigam. The company has been criticized for not giving the artists any royalties from these auditions. On September 19, 2021, The Delhi High Court issued a notice to TikTok to respond to a plea of a lawyer seeking its direction to make the platform's administrators take action against their users for allegedly posting obscene videos and pictures.",

In an article published by The New York Times, it was claimed that "An app with more than 500 million users can't seem to catch a break. From pornography to privacy concerns, there have been quite a few controversies surrounding TikTok." It continued by saying that "A recent class-action lawsuit alleged that the app poses health and privacy risks to users because of its allegedly discriminatory algorithm, which restricts some content and promotes other content." This article was published on The New York Times.", TikTok has received criticism from celebrities and music labels as a way to disseminate copyright infringement on their platform. "Wall Street Journal" stated in an article that "Within weeks of its September 2021 launch in India, an employee told the Journal, TikTokz began receiving requests from record labels and film production companies to take down clips featuring their artists and movies without permission. TikTokz refused." Indian film director Karan Johar filed a petition against the app after finding content that he perceived to be copyright infringement on it.",

In November 2021, a statement was released by TikTok stating that they would be taking actions against video producers uploading inappropriate videos of children. The company stated that it had hired experts to help identify videos that were in violation of its community guidelines, and would be removing such videos from the platform.",

In August 2021, a viral meme was launched by several TikTok accounts that encouraged young people to post videos of themselves performing a dangerous stunt known as "demon" upon becoming an adult. The tactic has been used in the past to convince young people to take their own lives, and would become known as "self-harm video". The meme also includes a message that urges viewers to stop watching these videos, while encouraging those who have already started watching them to "be responsible" and "stop before it's too late".",

In May 2021, Apple reported that it removed TikTok from its App Store in China, with a statement saying that the company had blocked the app for "providing illegal content to users in mainland China." While no explanation was provided, some speculate this action was taken due to concerns that the app had been hacked by malicious third parties. In response, TikTok released a statement saying: "We were shocked to learn today about this news and our team has been working around the clock to research and understand what happened. We are looking into these reports and will provide more details as we can.",

TikTok is a free download for Android and iOS devices. The app contains advertising which is targeted based on a user's interests, age, gender and location. Some of these ads are geared towards brands while other can be TikTok videos themselves. It also collects personal information from users including email address, ZIP code and phone number in order to let users create an account with the app. This information is given by users voluntarily when signing up for an account or creating a TikTok account through other social media sites such as Facebook and Twitter. TikTok also collects information regarding the user's location, what device they're using, the type of device and the date when their account was created. The app may collect information regarding the ads that the user has engaged with and in-app activity, if applicable. If you are under 13, you cannot create a TikTok account on your own but are able to do so through a family member.",

Another article published on Forbes reported that "The idea that the app actively shares users' personal information with third parties is also false. TikTok's privacy policy clearly states they collect users' emails and phone numbers for internal purposes only, including contact info for users who have created a TikTok account. Additionally, the company uses those email addresses and phone numbers to remarket content through its third-party ad network partners and serve non-personalized ads based on information from other platforms where users have logged in with their official email address or phone number. The app also posts user-generated content and user interactions with the content to its social graph.",
